UNSC Resolution 1373 which requires that all States refrain from providing any support, active or passive, to those involved in terrorist acts. We pointed out that nevertheless statements continued to emanate that moral, political and diplomatic support will continue to be given to what is clearly terrorism. This was unacceptable.

In its statement, Pakistan referred to the 'many forms and manifestations of terrorism', and alleged that 'the people of Indian held Kashmir had been deprived of their inalienable right to self-determination and hence were victims of State terrorism.

(c) The UN Security Council adopted resolution 1373 on 28.9.2001 which put in place comprehensive mandatory measures to combat terrorism. The resolution requires all States to submit National Reports on implementation of the resolution to the Counter Terrorism Committee, which has been tasked with reviewing these reports.
